

IMCA helps local authorities with their media and communication projects. Technical and technological studies are conducted, with a special focus on the deployment of TNT (French DTT).

Service obligations imposed by the CSA (the French audio-visual regulatory authority) on TNT operators are less demanding than for analogue.

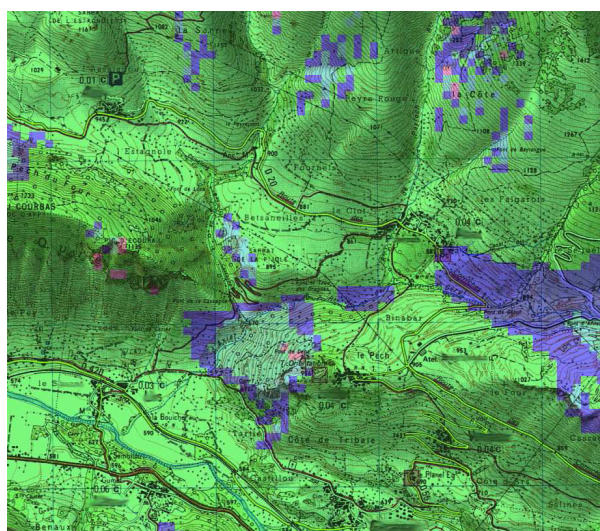

For example, while a zone had a good level of analogue reception, the two stations that will be launched will provide the zone with a mediocre TNT service:

IMCA has conducted a study which has shown that the replacement of these two stations by a single, well-placed station that belongs to the local authority will produce a far better result:
